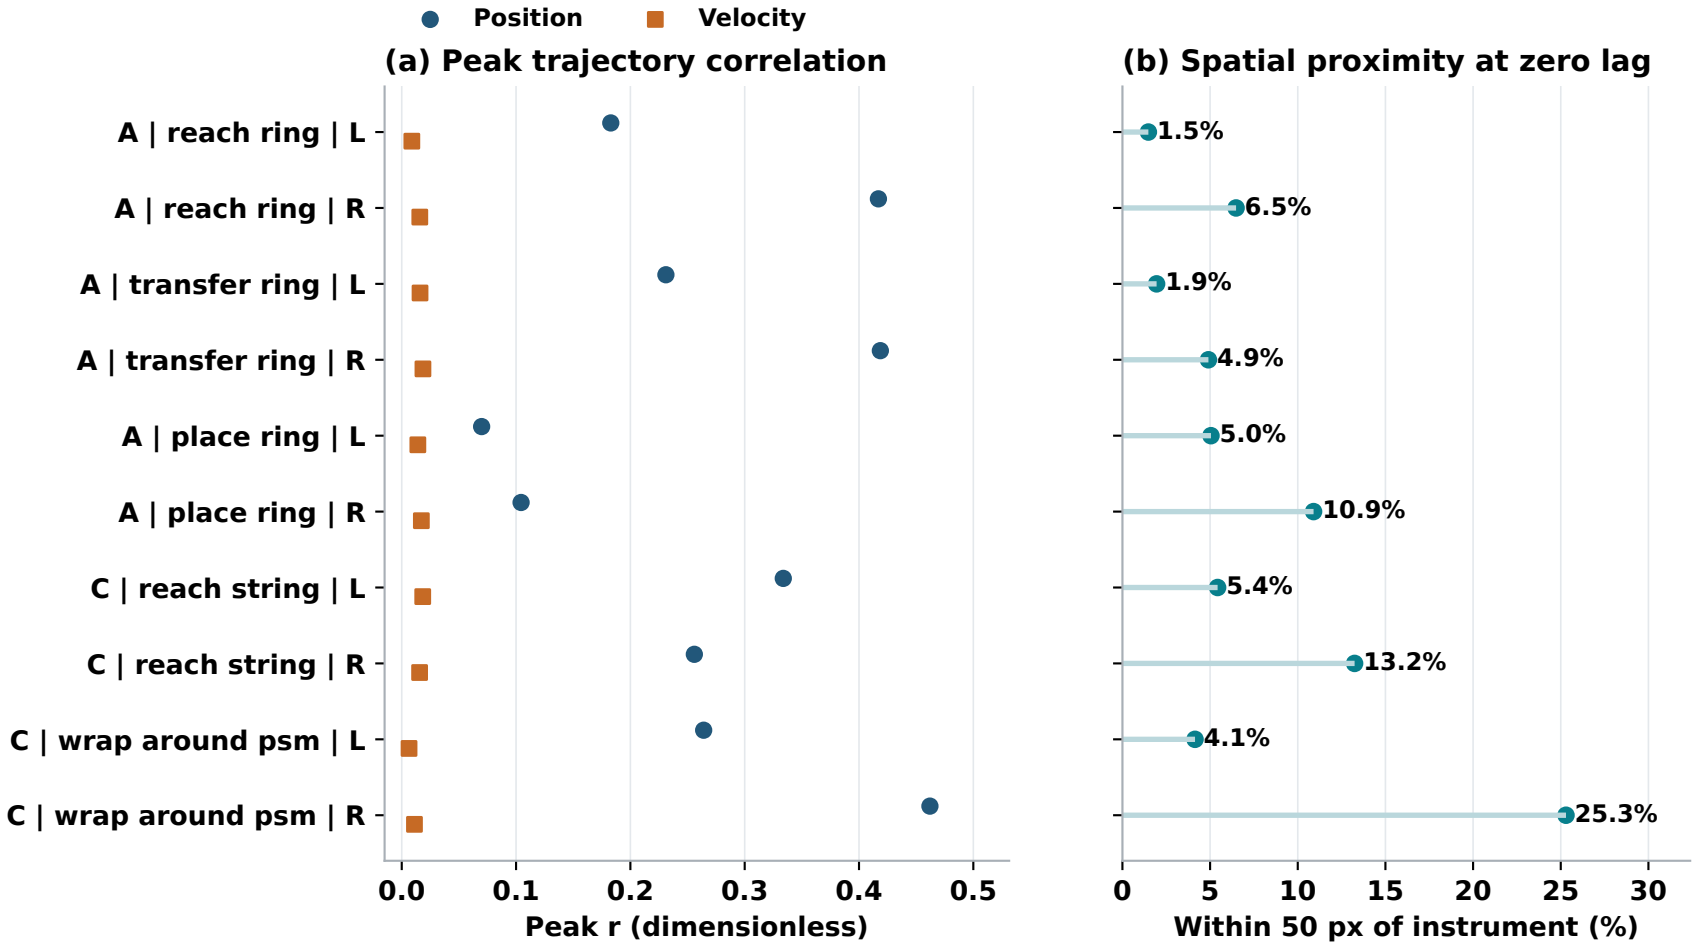
Trajectory coupling and spatial proximity provide different evidence

GT84 | PSM in stage analysis | NPY gaze; finite normalized coordinates



Correlation describes centered trajectory covariation; proximity describes absolute spatial closeness.

Proximity: record-level proportions averaged within participants, then across participants.

The 50 px neighborhood is a descriptive threshold, not a validated fixation or skill label.